Power House Business Professionals Take Center Stage

Jen Montague Pioneers New Approach to Developing Leaders

Los Angeles – July. 12, 2019 – The field of leadership development has never merged expressive art forms such as monologuing, storytelling, set design, DJ-ing, club night life scenes and music entertainment with empowering and inspirational leadership stories presented by world-class business pioneers – until now.

Join Jen Montague & The International DJ Casper along with Chanel West Coast, singer, rap artist and co-star of MTV's Ridiculousness, Sean Stone, son of the legendary filmmaker Oliver Stone & Producer of JFK, Ali Levine fashionista & reality tv star, Frank Knuckles former Percussionist for The Roots and others at The Frank Sinatra Mansion in Woodland Hills, CA for "iTalk". A night where pop culture, leadership content and stage drama collide.

The program opens at the top of the hill where Frank Sinatra's former estate sits amidst a club-like night life scene. Guests will enjoy cocktails and mingling at sunset while listening to original music produced by the acclaimed International DJ Casper. As the sun sets on Los Angeles the party will begin. Attendees will experience an opening 9-minute monologue given by Sr. Producer and iTalk Founder Jen Montague titled "Courage" which will be delivered from the audience. Then, very strong, stark transitions involving music, sound, lighting and set moves preventing the "usual" applause, will push the show into rapid motion. Attendees will experience 9-minute iTalks, one after another, centered on Vision, Change Acceleration, and Endurance, given by the cast. Special effects and interruptions reinforcing the merge of pop culture, leadership content and stage drama will be continuously introduced challenging leaders to examine themselves, their purpose and their talent through a different lens. But we won't get into detail... you'll have to see it for yourself!

Don't miss a very special performance by Chanel West Coast from her latest album!

WHAT MAKES ITALK DIFFERENT?

"Let's be honest, leadership seminars, symposiums and conferences need a face lift. No more boring PowerPoints and hour long speeches. The theatrical stage evokes emotion, reflection and understanding from audiences in a manner that stands unmatched by any other platform. By merging pop culture, leadership content & stage drama to form what we are coining as "motivational nightlife", iTalk becomes a one of a kind platform that empowers leaders to stand up, tell their stories and give their passionate why. Ultimately, challenging attendees to think out of the box, drive creative thinking and inspire them to cultivate their own stories, based on their why. What do you #iTalk for?"

– Jennifer Montague, Senior Producer & Executive Director
